The problem about going to a do thrown by the only dance expert in our city, is that you feel inadequate about hitting the dance floor. That explains why, at the third anniversary party of Ashley Lobo's Danceworx at Turquoise Cottage in Adhchini, it was Ashley's main dancers who sizzled on the dance floor in black leather and stole the show. But not that the select group of Ashley's friends and business associates didn't join in soon after! The in-house DJ Kapil kept the crowd on their toes with groovy Sixties music. The chilli chicken, which everyone freaked on was simply yummy. Ashley and his wife Ramnika were perfect hosts and it was a cool party.

Incidentally, Ashley is getting ready to present a musical called That's Dance in December. "It is being choreographed by my core dancers and presents the history of dance including all the dance forms like can-can to Hindi film dances. It will take the viewer through all the main dance forms as we know them today," says Ashley.

We also caught up with Indipopper Anamika, who was excited about performing at Café Sound Of Music in Gurgaon. "This one is among the best. It is the biggest club in the city and Sunny (Sarid) has done a fabulous job. I am sure it will definitely become one of Delhi's happening places," she feels.
